Dear friends

Yet again the UK weather since I last wrote has continued to be a huge blessing as we have experience wonderful sunshine giving us the most beautiful spring celebration - Easter.

As I write this Easter greeting during these unprecedented times its more important than ever to keep in touch with families, loved ones, friends and colleagues. Especially as holy week is a special time for bringing friends and families together to celebrate Easter.

Since commencement of the Coronavirus pandemic I have been amazed at the camaraderie of friends (new & old) and colleagues sharing their personal experience of living in these uncharted times.

I have been so inspired at the international sharing of such positivity from those in isolation and how they adapted to a change of behaviour and lifestyle.

As two overseas colleagues stated: "*From our sheltered bubble the rest of the world seems separate and somewhat surrea*l" and "*These are certainly strange and unusual times that we never could have imagined and I suspect the new normal will affect our future way of living, hopefully for the better. We are a part of history whether we like it or not; best to be as positive as we c*an".

Regardless of one's beliefs this heartfelt Easter greeting is sent to let you know I am thinking of you and wishing you good health, which is essential to everybody!

Keep safe and well.

Warm regards

Ellie
